Gore Defends Price Supports

Ohio Farm Bureau Hears Dairy Expert

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP)—The Ohio Farm Bureau Federation's annual convention settled down today to a series of conferences on livestock, dairies and field crops.

The bureau last night heard Sen. Albert Gore (D-Tenn.) declare government support of agriculture is "justifiable" since it supports business like railroads and banking.

The senator said farmers have every right to demand high parity if they are willing to cooperate with the government on production control, and suggested parity ratio be 90 per cent.

In today's conferences, Dr. Herrell DeGraff, Cornell University food economist, said dairying in the United States has "turned a corner."

He credited increased sales as the key to bringing dairymen out of the "dark period" of the marketing year, 1953-54. It was in that period, he said, when the government purchased 11.2 billion pounds of milk equivalent, or 9.2 per cent of the milk produced.

Sales Increase
In the 1954-55 period sales of dairy products increased by 6.1 billion pounds while government purchases were cut in half, Dr. DeGraff said.

Lower prices resulting from the drop in government price supports, moving of considerable government dairy surpluses into institutional and relief channels, and increased efforts of the dairy industry to educate consumers on the nutritional and high-money values of dairy foods, brought the increased sales, he said.

L.A. Rozzini, president of the California Farm Bureau, urged Ohio livestock farmers not to ask the government to step in. He warned that a "government purchase program at this time would most certainly lead to unsound expansion of livestock production."

Meat Promotion Program
Instead, he urged livestock farmers to support current meat promotion programs and other self-help methods as the best means of aiding the livestockmen.

He thought things were "looking up" in the livestock industry, saying employment and consumer incomes are at an unusually high level, and that as incomes of consumers go up, the demand for meat is also expected to rise.

Dr. George D. Scarseth of Lafayette, Ind., director of the American Farm Research Assn., told the conference that research and new developments in farming are running far ahead of politics and economics.

He said "the purchasing power of the consumer is bound to be a big factor in farmers' prosperity. The use of methods for greater efficiency is also expected to rise."

Newark Trucker Dies In Crash Near Canfield

Other Driver Bound To Grand Jury On Manslaughter Charge

Slippery pavement claimed the life of a 28-year-old Newark, N.J. truck driver at 10:15 a. m. Monday when his truck-trailer was struck by a fuel oil truck on Route 224, one mile west of Canfield, at the intersection of Palmyra Road.

Killed instantly in the crash was John O. Storm, who sustained a compound fracture of the skull, a broken neck and multiple fractures of the body.

Fuel Truck Skidded
According to Canfield state highway patrolmen, Storm's truck was traveling west when it was struck in the front end by the eastbound fuel truck, which slid broadside on the icy road. The fuel truck was operated by John S. McKinney, 27, of Franklin, Ind.

McKinney told patrolmen his truck slid out of control after he applied his brakes to slow down behind two telephone service trucks that had slowed down to turn left into Palmyra Road. The two service trucks were driven by Albert E. Dial, 25, and Stephen D. Myers, 24, both of Youngstown.

Patrolmen said Storm was pinned in the truck cab for several minutes before two wreckers could pry away the wreckage to remove the body. The trailer of the McKinney truck was demolished, patrolmen said.

McKinney was bound over to the Mahoning County grand jury on $3,000 bond for involuntary manslaughter by Canfield Justice of the Peace H. A. Walker. The bond was to be posted by McKinney's employers, the Jackson Trucking Co. Inc. of Indianapolis, Ind.

Storm's body was taken to the Williams Funeral Home in Canfield, where it will be shipped to the A. B. Yankoski Funeral Home in Wilkes-Barre, Pa. Interment will be in Hanover Township, Pa.

Survivors include a wife and two foster children of Newark, N.J., and his parents, Oscar and Leona Irving Storm of Wilkes-Barre, Pa.

Chamber Secretary Parley Is Called

Final plans are expected to be completed tonight for the hiring of an executive secretary for the Salem Chamber of Commerce.

Steps toward securing the executive will be taken at a meeting at 6:30 at the Lape Hotel of a steering committee which was named several months ago to explore the possibilities of employing a Chamber leader.

Tonight's meeting is expected to be the "kick-off" of the actual campaign to underwrite the program.

It is the hope of the Chamber to have an executive on the job by the first of the year. Several applicants have been interviewed to date.

Thieves Get $150 At Lisbon Service Station

LISBON — Burglars broke into Serago's Service Station, 632 E. Lincoln Way, early this morning and took tools valued at $150 and an undetermined amount of money from the cigarette machine, Harry Serago, co-owner, reported to police.

Serago opened the station at 7 this morning after it was closed at midnight by his brother, George.

The brothers surmised that the station was entered about 6:27 a. m. because an electric clock evidently stopped at that time when the burglars cut the electric power to turn off the night lights.

The thieves tried to gain entrance by smashing the front door lock, but apparently failed and broke a window in the door instead, George Serago said.

Murder Indictments Sought

All 5 Escaped Girls Back In Akron Home

Scenery Weight Kayoes Actress

Nanette Fabray Hit After Television Show

NEW YORK (AP)—Actress Nanette Fabray was knocked unconscious when hit on the head by a falling 75-pound scenery weight backstage at a television show Monday night.

Two doctors revived her in an ambulance on the way to Doctors Hospital.

Preliminary X-rays, it was reported; indicated there was no skull fracture or concussion. Doctors say Miss Fabray, 33, would be kept in the hospital several days for observation.

A spokesman for NBC, which broadcasts the program, said today after checking the hospital that she was in good condition, was resting quietly and had slept well. He said Miss Fabray would be examined further today.

Miss Fabray, who plays comedian Sid Caesar's wife in the NBC TV show Caesar's Hour, was injured just after leaving the stage at the Century Theater a few minutes before the show ended.

Two pieces of scenery became entangled as one was being raised and the other lowered. A pipe nine feet long at the bottom of one piece of scenery slipped out of place and dropped to the floor 20 feet below.

Neither the audience in the theater nor the television viewers witnessed the accident.

When the cast minus Miss Fabray took bows at the end of the show, Caesar explained her absence by saying she had met with an accident backstage.

Fire Destroys Garage On Franklin Square Rd.

Three pigs and a quantity of tools and machinery were destroyed this morning at 7:30 when fire gutted a garage owned by Ralph Entrioken of the Salem — Franklin Square Road.

The garage was located at the rear of the house occupied by Entrioken and his brother, Homer.

Cause of the fire was undetermined. The structure, heated by a coal stove, was used as a place for butchering animals. The loss was covered by insurance.

The Leonia Volunteer Fire Department was called to the scene, but the fire had gained too strong a start to permit the firemen to save anything.

Mrs. Zeida De Cost, 16, surrendered last night after hiding coatless in cellars in and near the detention home in below freezing weather. Two others surrendered a few hours after the escape and two were captured.

Told Of Escape

Yesterday, as police and juvenile authorities questioned her, Miri Cain, 15, told her story of the escape that cost the life of Mrs. Eula Bonham, 59. Officers quoted the girl as follows:

"I was supposed to hold her mouth so she couldn't scream. But I couldn't because she had cold cream on and her skin was slippery. Then four of us knocked her down on a bed and I tied her hands and feet."

"Before we left, I hit her twice over the head with a shoe because she was still struggling. Then I dropped the shoe and ran."

Asked For Scarf

Mrs. Bonham was preparing to go to bed when one of the girls asked her to bring a scarf to their second floor dormitory. When the matron unlocked their door to hand them the scarf, the five attacked her. They fled through a cellar window.

By the time another matron found her body, Mrs. Bonham had died of strangulation. Her arms and legs had been bound with belts from the girls' dresses, and an ammonia-soaked washrag had been stuffed in her mouth.

County Prosecutor Alva J. Russell said he would ask for murder indictments against the five. In that event, Juvenile Court would bind the girls to the grand jury which, in Ohio, can return indictments as if the minors were adults.

Upon conviction, the penalty would be death unless the jury recommended mercy, in which case it would be life imprisonment—with parole possible after 20 years.

Lisbon Mayor, Clerk's Wages Are Raised

LISBON—Council passed two ordinances last night raising the salaries of two village officials.

Passed as emergency measures, the ordinances hiked the salaries of Mayor Wilbur Warren from $2,400 to $4,800 and Clerk Ray Hempstead from $1,020 to $1,500. The pay raises will take effect in January.

The ordinance increasing the mayor's salary makes the mayor's post a full time job. The ordinance will run for two years.

Council approved it as a move to promote efficiency and economy in local government.

The new ordinances would allow the mayor, by agreement of Council and the new Board of Public Affairs, which will take office in January, to pool the village's existing labor force and deploy the workers where they are needed.

The ordinance will give the mayor or authority similar to that of a city manager.

The mayor will handle all complaints and channel them to the proper departments, Council said.

Council gave its okay to the ordinance to offset increasing costs in government by utilizing labor to the fullest advantage. The plan, giving the mayor additional authority will be discarded if it doesn't work, Council said.

Hempstead's salary was hiked because his work load has increased, councilmen said.

La Prensa May Soon Be Given Back to Exiled Owner-Editor

BUENOS AIRES (AP)—Argentina's Aramburu in his first meeting with the press Monday night did not say outright his government would give La Prensa back to Dr. Alberto Gainza Paz. But he said his regime had "resolved" the celebrated La Prensa case and that this would "repair the outrage committed against this great newspaper."

Back To Family

There appeared no other interpretation of his words than that control of the paper would shift from the General Confederation of Labor (CGT) back to the Paz family which since it founded La Prensa in 1869 had built it into one of the Western Hemisphere's leading journals.

Peron closed the outspoken newspaper more than four years ago and handed it over to CGT—the big worker's organization with which he hammered out his dictatorship. La Prensa was transformed from a respected independent journal to just another rubber stamp for the Peronista line.

Aramburu's press secretary Adolfo Lanus said the decree, which was expected to declare the seizure of La Prensa unconstitutional, had not been completed. He added, however, it might be finished in time for the President to sign today or tomorrow.

Hails Statement

Aramburu's statement was hailed by Jules Dubois, veteran Latin-American correspondent for the Chicago Tribune and chairman of the Freedom of the Press Committee of the Inter-American Press.

Mercury Dips To 3 Degrees Here Last Night

Polar Air Surges To Coast, Accompanied By Some Snowfall

By The Associated Press

An arctic cold wave swept into the eastern coastal region today, virtually completing its sweep of the eastern two-thirds of the country.

Stinging winds and continued snow flurries were felt in Salem for the second consecutive day as thermometers dipped well below the freezing mark.

The low reading here last night was three degrees above zero, according to records kept at the Salem sewage treatment plant.

Streets and highways remained slippery in spots, although most hazardous areas had been cleared and salted yesterday.

Warning that Columbiana County roads "are slippery in spots," John Nell, county highway maintenance supervisor, said this morning that "for a day as bad as it is, roads are in pretty fair shape."

Nell advised that the drivers be careful, although the "roads are well ashed." Eight trucks were sent out this morning at 7 to ash the roads, he said.

The supervisor said a mercury reading of eight above zero was recorded at the county garage at 7 a. m. today.

The strongest and coldest surge of polar air so far in the season tumbled temperatures to the freezing mark as far south as northern Florida, the Gulf Coast and southern Texas.

Chill winds shivered the mercury to 16.8 degrees in metropolitan New York, lowest for the season. Newark, N. J., had its lowest Nov. 29 reading on record, 15 degrees. Atlantic City's 17 reading

After repairs are made, the items will be distributed to needy children for Christmas by the Salvation Army and Red Cross.

If any homes are missed in the canvass Wednesday night, Moser said, residents with articles to be collected are asked to call either ED 7-3012 or 7-8080. Collectors will be out immediately to pick up the donations.

2 Countians Get Prison, Reformatory Sentences

LISBON — Judge Joel H. Sharp sentenced an East Liverpool man to the Ohio penitentiary at Columbus and a Lisbon youth to the Ohio State Reformatory at Mansfield after he denied their requests for probation Monday in Common Pleas Court.

Judge Sharp sentenced James Floyd Thomas, 49, of East Liverpool to a term of one to 20 years in the penitentiary for forgery.

Thomas, who stood a possible chance of being sentenced to life imprisonment under the habitual criminal law, was arrested for forging a $102.40 check June 16 payable to the Gun Shop in East Liverpool.

William D. Beadnell, 18, of Lisbon RD 4, was sent to the reformatory for a period of one to five years for burglary. AWOL twice from the Marines, he was arrested for the burglary of the Gordon Cummings home, near his residence, June 5.

Both men were indicted by the September Grand Jury and pleaded guilty Oct. 3 at arraignment day in Common Pleas Court to the charges for which they were sentenced.

Inspector Testifies In Slaying Trial

OAKLAND, Calif. (AP)—Police Inspector Charles O'Meara turned aside the barb of three hours of defense questioning with a single sentence yesterday at the kidnapping trial of Burton Abbott.

O'Meara, called to testify about his investigation into the slaying of 14-year-old Stephanie Bryan, outlined to Defense Atty. Harold Hove a trip he took from Berkeley, Calif., to the Abbott cabin in Trinity County.

Hove's detailed questioning showed that O'Meara had taken nearly 10 hours for the trip. Then the attorney asked the inspector if he had not previously testified the trip took only 5½ hours.

Yes, he had, O'Meara replied. But he had timed the trip back from the cabin to Berkeley and had made no stops.

Abbott, a 27-year-old student of accounting at the University of California, said he left the San Francisco Bay area for the cabin hours before Stephanie disappeared April 28 while walking home from Francis Willard Junior High School in Berkeley.

Stephanie's purse and other effects were found in the basement of the Abbott home in Alameda July 15 and her body was dug out of a wilderness grave near the Abbott cabin five days later.

Dist. Atty. J. Frank Coakley previously had asked O'Meara to describe the tank farm hill area. That is the place where Coakley declared in his opening statement that Stephanie "could have been assaulted and murdered."

O'Meara, under questioning by Coakley, testified Bear Creek Road twisted and turned through the Contra Costa County hills. Traffic on this and other side roads in the tank farm hill area north of San Pablo was "very slight" most of the time, he said.

Churchill To Be 81 Years Old Wednesday

LONDON (AP)—Sir Winston Churchill observes his 81st birthday Wednesday.

In the seven months since he bowed to age and resigned as prime minister, Churchill has made only one appearance in the House of Commons, where he spent more than half a century. That was to be sworn in after the May elections as a Conservative backbencher—an ordinary member of Parliament.

But outside the glare of world attention, the veteran statesman has kept busy.

He spent two months this fall vacationing on the French Riviera. Much of his time there was devoted to writing and painting.

Now in the peaceful solitude of his country home, Churchill dictates and polishes a few more pages of his book on the history of the English-speaking people. It is scheduled to be published next year.

Dressed in a floppy hat and the siren suit he made famous, he walks along the paths of his estate in Kent with Rufus, his poodle, dancing excitedly at his side.

Churchill is said to keep in close touch with current events, but his mood seems to be that of a man who feels he has a right to relax, and in a detached sort of way watch history unfold. He gives the impression of deliberately trying to avoid any appearance of having a say in state policy—a right that might normally fall to him as a respected elder statesman.

5 Stranded Fishermen, Hunters Saved

DETROIT (AP)—A Navy helicopter and Michigan state police rescued two Detroit-area fishermen and three Toledo, Ohio duck hunters stranded in wind-whipped eight degree temperatures last night in the Detroit River and Lake Erie's Maumee Bay.

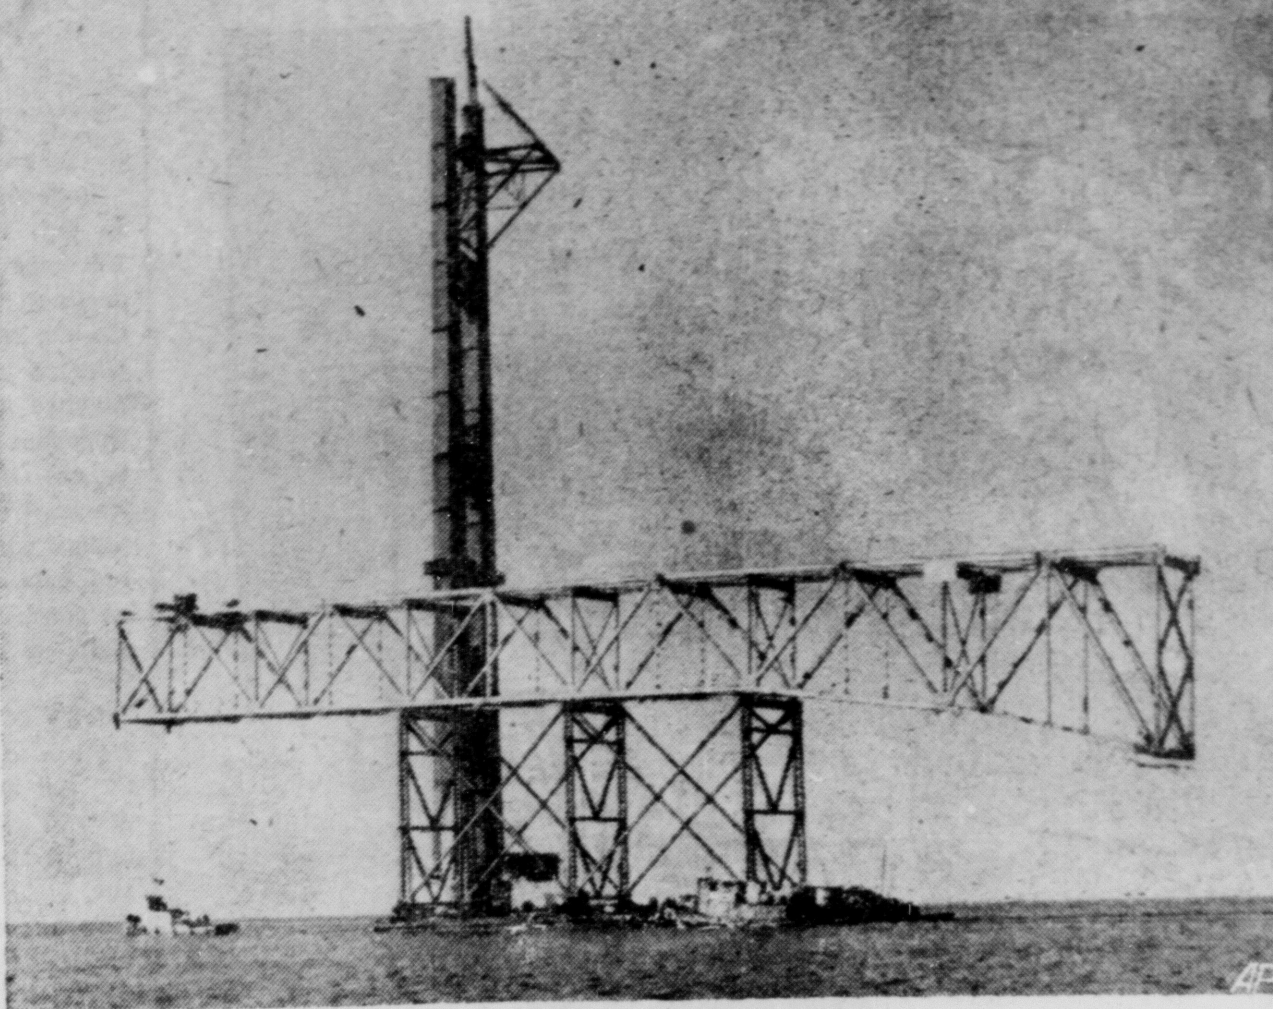

Edward Ososkie, 45, and Alfred Dossett, 33, both of suburban Wyandotte, were picked by helicopter from their boat mired on a mud bank off Hickory Island at the southwestern end of Grosse Ile in the Detroit River.

The duck hunters, Wade A. Young, 19, Harold M. Gibson, 45, and Richard Clark, 24, were driven ashore by winds on the barren North Cape Peninsula that juts two miles into Maumee Bay near the Michigan-Ohio line. The peninsula is only a foot or two above water level. The hunters believed the peninsula impassable.

Troopers, called by someone who saw a bonfire on the tip of the peninsula, inched their patrol car along the precarious point shining their spotlight as a signal to the distressed hunters.

The hunters, seeing the light, began walking toward the police car. They met police halfway toward the mainland.

STEEL SPAN MOVED—A 750-ton steel span moves majestically past the nearly completed 552-foot north tower of the Straits of Mackinac bridge under construction off St. Ignace, Mich. Held aloft on steel beams and floated on two barges, this section will form the first horizontal link in the new five-mile-long structure that will link upper and lower Michigan. The span shown was prefabricated ashore and floated to its position on a calm day. The bridge is scheduled for completion in 1957.

C Is Not For Cash

If you believe the White House Conference on Education can find answers to school problems, you have missed the point.

The purpose of the full-dress meeting of 2,000 educators and interested citizens in Washington this week is to make the whole country think about the problems and find answers in thousands of localities.

Public education, whether or not it becomes a larger burden on the U.S. Treasury than it has been in the past, always will be a local responsibility.

It will be met as well or as poorly as the thinking of citizens in thousands of localities will permit it to be.

Here is a good place to begin to think.

The C in the ABC's does not stand for Cash.

It takes cash to erect buildings and hire personnel. But if twice as much money could be spent as is being spent now, education's problems would not be solved.

They might be tougher than they are now. Bear this in mind when the cry is raised for federal aid.

Education cannot be bought. It must be acquired by the student and given by the educator. It must be an exchange of knowledge according to a workable plan — an exchange made possible by an atmosphere in which learning is a privilege.

All of us are in danger of embracing the great American fallacy in a new set of circumstances — the illusion that if we spend enough money on public education we will get what we want.

It never works that way. We didn't get international friendship by spending billions on foreign aid. We didn't get good government by giving bureaucracy a blank check. We don't get good education by spending money alone.

What we want must be earned by doing something harder than signing blank checks. We must decide what education should be and why educators should be worthy of their hire.

That C in the ABC's stands for Concentration, not Cash.

Global Give And Take

The give and take in international diplomacy is no where better illustrated than in United States' reluctant decision not to veto the admission of Outer Mongolia to United Nations membership.

When Russia advanced the Asian province as one of five Communist countries proposed for membership, the American delegation protested vigorously on the ground that Outer Mongolia was not an independent nation — was not, in fact, a nation at all, but just a puppet.

To this, Russia reacted as expected. Unless Albania, Bulgaria, Hungary, Romania and Outer Mongolia were admitted, she would veto all 13 non-Communist nation candidates.

This left us with only one decision — did we want Outer Mongolia excluded worse than we wanted 13 friendly nations admitted.

It has been quite obvious from the start that if we found ourselves unable to change the Soviet's position (silly thought) we would be left with only one course — namely, to compromise our opposition with respect to Outer Mongolia so that such friendly nations as Italy, Japan and Spain could be admitted.

Had we clung adamantly, to our point, we would have been blamed for keeping our friends, as well as the Communists, out of the U.N. And our friends want it, but badly.

It wasn't a question of disturbing the balance of voting power in the United Nations. Our opposition to Outer Mongolia was based on principle.

But in the international tug-of-war, even principles must be compromised.

Card of Condolence

Poor Sen. George, the Georgia statesman who wants to keep foreign policy out of partisan politics in 1956, is going to have a rough time.

As chairman of the Senate Foreign Relations Committee, he has been cooperating with the Eisenhower administration and vice versa. But as far as his fellow Democrats are concerned, it has been all vice and no versa.

There is no way to keep partisan politicians from making hay with foreign policy. There is no reason why they shouldn't make hay with it. It is just as lively an issue in the two-party system of defense and attack as farm policy, corruption in government, or anything else.

But it is going to be tough for Sen. George to hear himself smeared as a blunderer and a borderline traitor for proposing some of the foreign-policy moves made by the Eisenhower administration. It's a long, lonesome jump from the political level to statesmanship — and not many men make it, not even chairmen of the Senate Foreign Relations Committee.

Most of us are smarter than we think, says a college professor. And a lot of us are smart enough to know, we're not.

Constitutional Rights

By DAVID LAWRENCE

Hennings Committee Deaf To Workers' Pleas

Tens of thousands of law-abiding, loyal American citizens are every day deprived of their constitutional rights by being denied employment unless they sacrifice their beliefs, but they cannot get consideration from the Senate judiciary subcommittee on constitutional rights.

This committee, headed by Sen. Hennings, has become the chief forum for the airing of the grievances of "security risks" and of other persons who have been mixed up either with Communists or Communist organizations and who claim their rights were impaired.

But Sen. Hennings has just written Sen. Curtis, that the committee isn't interested in investigating any "problems capable of full solution in the courts." If this really was the criterion — instead of an excuse for inaction — the Senate subcommittee would have to shut up shop. There isn't a single question of constitutional rights before it on the "security risk" problem that isn't being tackled now and cannot be solved by the federal courts.

THE HENNING COMMITTEE, with a lot of fanfare, told the public a few months ago it would use the taxpayers' money to find out if the constitutional rights of the citizens are being abused. It made no differentiation as to which rights it would investigate when it got its funds from the Senate.

The money was voted on the assumption that all constitutional rights of the citizen would be examined, and not just the rights of a few misguided individuals who became entangled in the operations of the security program, either through "Communist front" affiliations or past associations.

It so happens that the Federal Courts have before them the question of the right of the executive departments of the government to fire security risks. At the moment the Supreme Court is wrestling with several phases of this very question. The matter of passports issued by the State Department, for example, is another part of the same controversy which is before the courts.

The Hennings committee has spent a lot of time and money going into the whole security program and has been taking testimony from persons who already have had their cases before the executive departments and who could have appealed to the courts if there had been any injustices done them.

THERE ARE PROBABLY less than 100 "security risk" cases in America in which there is a serious question of mishandling, but there are millions of persons affected by the loss of the liberty known as "the right to work." This right is guaranteed by the Constitution, which says that no law shall be passed that will interfere with the liberty of the American citizen. In various industries there are thousands of contracts with local unions in which it is stipulated that a worker cannot keep his job and must be fired unless he agrees to join a union within 30 days of his employment.

Here is a palpable interference with liberty of thought and liberty of action. The idea of compulsory unionization — which says that a man cannot earn a livelihood unless he is a member of a union — undermines the foundations of the Constitution itself.

MEDALS AND AWARDS and large grants of funds are being given nowadays to organizations which defend "civil liberties," but not one of the so-called champions of "civil liberties" has ever made a fight against compulsory unionization or against the various forms of "closed shop" that exist today in America in deliberate violation of the Constitution.

Then there is the matter of misappropriation of the dues paid by members of labor unions. Sen. Curtis wrote the Hennings committee recently about it, because he thought it was an abuse of constitutional rights to make a man contribute to a political party which he and his family refused to join as voters. The Hennings committee turned a cold shoulder toward that protest.

Incidentally, the Supreme Court has before it a long brief from the Communist party claiming that its constitutional rights have been violated.

IT ARGUES THAT the Communist party is only a political party, just like the Republican party and the Democratic party, and it ignores the Communist party's relationship with the Soviet government with respect to espionage, as charged by Congress in a law on the control of subversives passed in 1950.

The Communists have ample opportunity to get their cases into the courts, but the workers of the United States who must accept enslavement in "closed shops" evidently can't even get a hearing before a Senate subcommittee which claims to be investigating "constitutional rights."

2,000 Years To Go

By TRUMAN TWILL

Vacation is over for another year.

Among post-vacation ideas is one about the Appian Way, which has been written about for more than 2,000 years as the first of the man-made highways.

Compared with the new Ohio Turnpike, the Appian Way was an alley. It was an alley compared with any modern highway, in any part of the world. But it was the beginning of an idea that finally is paying off midway through the 20th century — the idea that men can be masters of their travel environment.

Everybody knows by this time the Ohio Turnpike is two widely-divided ribbons of table-top concrete, with no hills or hazards; that each ribbon is 24 feet wide; that there are 16 service plazas and that it is possible to drive safely throughout its entire distance of 241 miles at the legal maximum speed of 65 miles an hour.

But while scudding over it in our bucket of bolts at considerably less than 65, it seemed pretty plain that not everybody is aware of what the Ohio Turnpike means.

The automobile finally has come to Ohio to stay.

When the Appian Way was started, more than 300 years before the birth of Christ, the Romans were ready to accept the wheel. Ohio's Appian way means we have accepted the automobile, which became the ultimate use of the wheel.

Opposition to these modern Appian ways is crumpling. For those of us whose lifetimes have run parallel with the automobile era, it is incredible that its development has been blocked and hampered by refusal to accept its advantages.

Some men are still refusing, but the diehards are dying — hard. Only stupid people continue to act as if the automobile would go away if opposed.

It is here to stay. The stupes are dying off.

States and localities blessed with men of vision are planning and building highways that will exploit the automobile's possibilities. Where there is no vision, the people will perish, as they always have.

There were Romans who sneered at the Appian Way and cursed Appian laudius Caecus for building it. There were Romans who lacked the vision to see that men would need prepared surfaces, bridges and embankments for their wheeled carts.

While driving on the Ohio Turnpike, a man needs something to think about. The signs are large enough to read and placed where they can be seen. Everything conceivable has been done for the safety and comfort of the traveler. All the familiar obstacles to the auto have been cleared away. Boredom has replaced irritation.

It helps to think about the Appian Way, which today would be less than the equivalent of a country lane, although it introduced the era of man-made highways more than 2,000 years ago. Progress can be mighty pokey.

The restless age is anywhere from one to 100 when people are wearing the itchy winter underwear.

A Policeman's Job

By GEORGE E. SOKOLSKY

Most of us think of a policeman, as a crotchety person who directs traffic or who tells you to move on when you form part of a crowd.

Sokolsky

When I was a boy on the sidewalks of New York, it was a different policeman. The policeman was an enormous hulking of an Irishman who knew everyone on the block.

THE OTHER DAY I went down to Washington to attend the commencement exercises of the FBI Academy which does not train FBI agents but consists of classes of local police officers who get a refresher course in the techniques of professionalized policing. This academy has been in existence about 20 years, and has turned out more than 3,000 students.

One of the speakers of this occasion was a former graduate of this school, Stephen P. Kennedy, who is now police commissioner of New York, which is an exceedingly tough job because New York is as large as some countries and contains peoples of every race, color, creed and variety of habit, customs and traditions.

Its terrain, as Kennedy pointed out, makes it a difficult place to police. Also the police force is so frightfully undermanned that there are hardly enough to go around.

IT WAS IN THIS atmosphere that I learned what such men as J. Edgar Hoover and Stephen P. Kennedy mean by professional police. What they mean is that the police have functions to perform as a doctor does and that therefore, a police officer has to maintain law and order without regard to the political fortunes of those who temporarily hold elective office.

In New York, it used to be traditional that when a new police commissioner took office, the mayor or the head of Tammany Hall would hand him instructions for promotions, out of line, based on political gratitude often unrelated to ability.

In recent years, this has been complicated by political insistence on the virtue of paying off political debts to the so-called racial and religious minorities. By appointing a person to office who came from one of these groups, the politicians were able to show that they were not guilty of racial or religious discrimination, even if the appointee was a dope.

NONE OF THIS is professional policing and may be responsible for some of the disrespect for law, order, and policing. So these men in the FBI Academy are given a dose of professional training and professional ideals and it is hoped that when they return to their communities, they will be strong enough in spirit to resist the self-serving politicians.

There is another side, the technical side of policing which requires constant refreshing if a police officer is to know what he is about.

Those who commit crimes against life, property or civilization can only be convicted by facts.

The FBI specializes in facts and is up-to-date mechanically to accumulate, index and deliver facts. One item alone will explain. The FBI has a store of more than 137 million fingerprints which are scientifically indexed and which can be delivered by mechanical devices in minutes.

IN THIS DAY of scientific crime, the policeman must understand a fact when he sees one. He needs to know when and how to get at facts and how to use them so that what he says about the facts will stand up in a court of law under the rules of evidence.

Such a police officer as Stephen Kennedy is not only a cop who has walked the beat but he is also a lawyer, as are many FBI agents. Such men know how to prepare their cases so that when they come into court, their testimony is not beaten down by a shrewd lawyer. Whether they deal with dope peddlers or Alger Hisses, it is upon facts that they must depend.

The Wild West

By HAL BOYLE

NEW YORK (AP)—In the wild and woolly West, it seems, there was nothing wilder than a cowboy's aim.

Millions of American kids today take it for granted that the old-time cowboys were faster than greased lightning on the draw and practically never missed their target in a gunfight.

"The plain fact is," says Herbert O. Brayer, "that cowboys as a group were generally poor shots. Alas, it is all too true...they couldn't hit the broad side of a barn!"

Brayer, alas, is no mere killjoy bent on overturning youthful idols. He is recognized as a top authority on the Old West, and spent years going through court records and getting sworn testimony to debunk the legend that the average cowboy was an artist with a six-gun.

The result of his researches, proving that cowboys missed more often than they hit, are carried in the January issue of the magazine "Guns."

Here are a few of his disclosures:

The famous Texas Cattleman, Charles Goodnight, told Brayer: "I've known hundreds of the best and worst cowpunchers in the business, and the number of real working cowboys who could hit a man at 50 feet with a .44 or .45 you could count on your fingers and toes. But some of them were pretty fair shots with a rifle—and some were damn good!"

"The best shots in the cow country certainly were not the cowboys—they were the ones who usually got shot! It was the professional gunslingers who spent their time learning to draw fast and shoot straight while the honest cowpoke was busy branding, driving up the drags, repairing fence, or busting steers out of the bush."

In 1881 two rival groups of cowboys got in a gunfight in a Dodge City, (Kan.) saloon. More than 100 shots were fired, and the only casualty was a cat. The cowboys could have done better with rocks or beanshooters.

In one shooting fracas in New Mexico in 1884 a 19-year-old Mexican boy killed four cowboys and wounded six others, then holed up in a dope hut and fought 80 besieging cowboys to a draw. Some 4,000 shots were poured at him, but at the end of 33 hours the boy surrendered unharmed on his own terms and got off scot free.

So They Say

Realistic worry in the face of danger or distress is the mark of a healthy mind. Contrary to the theme of popular writings which advocate elimination of worry, psychiatrists know that on that pathway lies madness. — Psychiatrist Dr. Judd Marmor.

No defeated candidate in history (Adlai Stevenson) ever said "give me another chance" with more cynicism or with more elaborate staging. — GOP National Chairman Leonard Hall on Stevenson's announcement that he'll seek '56 Democratic Nomination.

The comments are not based on fact... If we have a corpse on our hands, it is a most unusual one because it is alive and kicking. — George Trautman, president of Minor League Baseball.

Once Over

By H. I. PHILLIPS

Long Full Investment

Regardless of legal aspects, we may invest in that new organization, the Interplanetary Development Corporation, which has advertised deeds to one-acre lots on the moon, "Copernicus Crater, Northwest Quadrant." It would at least take us longer to find out the lot is no good. And we would feel certain that the Northwest Quadrant site would not turn out to be next to an auto junkyard, alligator farm or dog track. We have, man and boy, invested in things which turned out less promising than real estate on the moon and which never looked as rewarding as a slice of Copernicus Crater, sight unseen.

WHY NOT? We know that there IS a moon. We are fond of moons, first quarter, last quarter full and new. Moonlight has always had a dreamy effect on us and it would be comforting to have an interest in it, even if not a controlling one.

To sit on the beach on a moonlit night and say, "Nice moon, my love! And I'm a PART OWNER!"... To meditate, "When I bought a piece of that moon it was much smaller. Look at it now! How can anybody hint I was cheated? Let those smarties who bought lots in Hollywood Hills, Clamflat Beach, Guli Stream Peak or Lereeny Valleys consider themselves bright if they must; I can SEE my moon often and never doubt that it is a place which hasn't deteriorated, and which is improving, with more and more people talking of visiting it... A tourist trade seems certain."

OF COURSE, THERE MAY BE worries. Before very long the rocket ships will be taking off, and if the passengers return with a ballyhoo for some section other than Northwest Quadrant it could set back our hopes for a quick return on our lunar realty operations.

Then, too, these first visitors might report that the Southeast Quadrant is the real buy and that my Quadrant will never draw the best people. You never can tell what may happen when a high-powered real estate developer swings into action. IF things turn out well he might even let us in on the ground floor in owning a star!... maybe some real estate on the Big Dipper! (The missus leans toward a plantation on Orion, Handler to schools, she thinks.)

Nobody can tell us a chance to put a little money into such ain't legal. Look at the fortune we could clean up if we plunged, got a big piece of the moon and demanded a royalty from Tin Pan Alley for every mention of it!!!

NAMING OF FULTON THEATER after Helen Hayes keeps us reciting the old Whittier lines, "Maud Muller, doing matinees, loved the playhouse sweet with Hayes."

For the second time a man arrested for keeping a cow in the Bronx, N. Y., has been set free. There was no evidence that among the perils of life in a big city a cow is one of the foremost.

Wonder what Dr. White is doing these days when President Eisenhower seems swinging back into a full-speed-ahead routine with all those visitors and conferences... Heart doctors tell most patients of even slight attacks that for at least a few months they've got to avoid mental and nerve strains, which can be as bad as overdoing it physically.

Wonders are sometimes accomplished with a drama on its road trial, as for example, "A Hateful Rain," now a Broadway hit, which looked extra dismal at its out-of-town opening.

Meany Says AFL-CIO Aims To Advance Organized Labor, Both Economically, Politically

NEW YORK (AP)—The first man to concede that the AFL-CIO merger will tend to concentrate and broaden organized labor's economic and political powers is George Meany, who will boss the job.

But Meany says the powers will be used to benefit the nation as a whole. Economically, he argues that unions have won much of the nation's present prosperity by increasing worker purchasing power and that the merger will be aimed at advancing that cause.

Politically, he says:

"Fears have been expressed that there will be too much power, too much concentration of power, and that it might be used politically. Well, in my book it will be used politically."

"Not with the idea in mind of running the country, not with the idea in mind of seeking public office for trade unionists — although there is nothing wrong with that, we have some pretty good ones — but with the idea of continuing the forward march of American labor, getting for American labor the fair share of what we produce."

"Let those who worry about labor's political power remember this: We did not choose the battleground, this political battleground. If they can pass laws that can hamstring, weaken and destroy the trade union movement, then our place to defend ourselves is in the same halls where they passed those laws."

Meany has recognized that misuse of increased labor power may be countered by new legislative curbs against unions. He has counseled that union powers must be used wisely or face that consequence.

The merger, which becomes effective next week, will throw together 108 AFL unions and 30 CIO unions into one federation. The CIO group is to remain intact as a Department of Industrial Organizations within the new federation.

Presumably this will leave the CIO free, in the first few years of the merger at any rate, to quit as a body and establish a rival federation just as happened in 1935 when a group of unions withdrew from the AFL to form the CIO.

Nobody, however, seems to be worrying now about another schism. Meany will draw the same $35,000 per year salary as head of the AFL-CIO as he presently receives as AFL president. While this is above the average union leader's salary, it's less than the $50,000 paid to miners' chief John L. Lewis or to Teamsters Union President Dave Beck, or the $76,000 received by George Harrison, president of the Brotherhood of Railway Clerks.

Little effect of the merger is expected on the forthcoming presidential campaign. For the next year or more, the combined AFL-CIO plans codirectors of political activity, one for AFL unions and one for CIO unions. They probably will operate more closely than in the past, however.

A two-year period after the merger has been arranged to perfect the dovetailing of the thousands of state, area and city AFL and CIO organizations, some of which have maintained strong rivalries for years.

They are supposed to merge all

CAPTURED — Maggie O'Connor, Chicago's glamor girl of the underworld and its most-wanted criminal, is shown in the police station after she was captured at her sister's apartment in Chicago. Maggie, 30, told police she left a safe refuge in Galveston, Tex., and returned to Chicago because she wanted to see her three little daughters again.

down the line and, if they haven't at the end of the two-year period provided, they are to be forced together.

Leaders of the AFL and CIO seem to feel they'll be able to collect more voluntary political contributions from union members under the new setup.

However, that turns out, the main union political advantage out of the luted their over-all influence—one AFL-CIO organization in each state eventually will have the power to give or withhold substantially all organized labor support. In the past, unions have sometimes diluted their over-all influence—one supporting one candidate while another supports his opponent. Political support of the AFL-CIO thus is likely to be more meaningful and thus courted more by prospective candidates.

Asks Limit On Pickets

Westinghouse Claims Workers Threatened

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP)—A judge today will hear further arguments on a petition by the strike-bound Westinghouse Electric Corp. here to grant a temporary injunction limiting union picketing.

Judge Dana F. Reynolds of Franklin County Common Pleas Court heard preliminary evidence on the petition yesterday. He asked Local 746, International Union of Electric Workers (IUE-CIO) and company representatives to try to agree on the number of pickets permitted.

Reynolds suggested six pickets per gate. The company asked for a limit of three.

The petition move followed what the company contended was mass picketing at the plant yesterday. Westinghouse submitted photographs as evidence and also affidavits of several women who said pickets used abusive language.

The picketing came on the heels of a "back-to-work" movement here, the first in 41 days of strike at 30 Westinghouse plants.

Several incidents were reported.

Westinghouse attorney John Eckler called yesterday's strike scene, in which about 700 persons gathered, a "violent situation." He said many employees were threatened with physical violence as they passed through the lines.

Eckler listed some incidents as "shoulder to shoulder picketing, jumping and jostling cars, damaging autos, threats of personal injury, blocking cars and placing blocks of wood with nails in them in the paths of cars."

The attorney charged a number of employees were discouraged from going back to work by such activity.

Union officials said they "did not know of the incidents."

The company said 24 cars carrying 100 of the 4,300 workers crossed picket lines. But the union called that "a brazen lie designed to impress IUE members in 30 other cities that there has been a weak-

The union said only four cars carrying "10 or 11" persons entered the plant, which makes refrigeration appliances.

Christmas has truly become a "season" rather than a "day." Christmas really begins where Thanksgiving leaves off, and December 25th is the climax to weeks of anticipation and planning.

To make your picture story of Christmas as complete and true-to-life as possible now's the time to list some of the scenes you'll want to be sure of recording — addressing cards, Junior's letter to Santa, wrapping gifts, the postman delivering packages, bringing home the tree and decorating it, and many more. And then, of course, there will be plenty of picture subjects Christmas day.

Be sure your camera is in A-1 working order because you certainly don't want to ruin any Christmas pictures. See that the lens and the inside of your camera are clean. Use a soft brush or lint-free cloth. Be sure the batteries in your Flashholder are fresh. It would be wise to get new ones now. If you've had some trouble with your camera, you'd better bring it in and let us give it a thorough check-up.

There's no charge for this service and you're under no obligation to have any repair work done.

Area Driver Escapes As Train Hits Truck

Donald Christen, 30, of Damascus, narrowly escaped death Monday morning when his tractor-trailer, loaded with about 39,000 pounds of sheet steel for the Alliance Ware, Inc., was struck by the diesel engine of a four-car train at unguarded N. Rockhill Road crossing at Bolton, near Alliance.

Christen, who neither saw nor heard the train which rolled over the tractor-trailer and dragged it approximately 300 feet, was admitted to Alliance City Hospital for treatment of a possible fractured left arm, back injuries and scratches.

Owner - operator of the trailer, Christen was trip leasing for the Industrial Cartage of Warren. He had reportedly picked up the steel at Irwin, Pa.

The diesel of the train, which had left Alliance at 9:56 for Cleveland, was so badly damaged that it was replaced by another engine. The train departed for Cleveland at 11:30 a.m.

Thomas Psenicnik, 31, of Cleveland, a passenger on the train, was shaken up in the accident. He was dismissed from the hospital after being treated for contusions of the head.

Program Is Planned By County Youth Group

LISBON — A plan for the appointment of a new committee for the coming year will be presented when members of the Columbiana County Youth Planning Committee meet Monday, Dec. 19 at 8 p.m. at Guilford Grange hall.

The committee will also discuss two topics, "What should be our relation with China, Russia, Israel and India?" and "What can our youth do to promote world understanding?" Games and square dancing will provide the recreation.

The committee made plans for the December meeting Monday night at the county extension office. Members also decided to extend an invitation to all county young people to attend the meetings.

NEARLY SMASHES PIER

CLEVELAND (AP)—A 450-foot ore carrier, John F. Rand, came within 20 feet of smashing into the Gordon Park Pier last night as it was buffeted by a 35-mile-an-hour west wind over Lake Erie.

Police said the vessel, part of its crew clad in life jackets, was trying to clear the breakwater when the wind caught it. Giving short, warning blasts on its horn, it managed to pull away from the pier after turning a complete circle.

was the lowest for the date in 82 years.

Mercury Below Zero
Temperatures were below zero in eastern Montana, the western Dakotas and parts of New England.

The icy blasts, accompanied by snow in some regions, brought unseasonable temperatures to areas from the Rockies to the Atlantic.

The perimeter of the weather disturbance was so vast, however, that it brought freakish relief to some northern regions. Warmer air from the south was sucked northward, out in the Atlantic, then pulled westward across eastern Canada and sent south again in parts of the Midwest by northwest winds.

Chicago, which had expected an overnight low of zero, had a minimum of 17.

The cold and snow closed schools in parts of New York and New Jersey. Upper Michigan had 16 inches of new snow.

Lashed By Blizzard
Buffalo, N. Y. lay helpless under the lash of a blizzard.

Workbound thousands were stranded on windswept street corners and in stalled cars. Roads leading to the city were blocked by stalled passenger cars.

The heavy storm was confined almost entirely to Erie County. Up to four feet of snow piled up south of Buffalo.

The cold air spread southward through the Gulf and Atlantic states and readings were from 20 to 30 degrees lower than Monday morning. They were in the 20s in the interior sections of the Gulf states except in Florida where they were in the 50s and 60s. It was freezing in Mobile, Ala., and a shivery 22 in Atlanta.

Chicago, after its coldest day of the season Monday, 3 above, warmed to 19 this morning.

But there was no warming in Montana where it was 25 below at Glasgow.

No vice president of the United States ever was assassinated, but seven have died in office.

Old Law Determines Procedure For Trial

Mayor Dean Cranmer said today that the trial for Lloyd C. Loop, charged with driving while intoxicated, will be delayed until a panel of Salem residents can be selected as a jury.

Loop's trial originally was scheduled for 7 tonight in City Hall. A venire of 20 names was drawn from the jury wheel in Common Pleas Court last Friday to serve in the case.

However, Cranmer said today that a 1917 Salem ordinance requires that City Council draw up a jury list of local residents and that the Salem chief of police draw names from this venire.

Loop was arrested by police Oct. 7 on a charge of driving while intoxicated. He asked for a jury trial on the charge. Mayor Cranmer will preside.

One Defendant In Lisbon Fight Is Fined

LISBON — Fehrmann Baker Jr. of 262 Sherman St., cited Wednesday for being a party to a disturbance on N. Market St., was fined $25 and costs Monday by Mayor Wilbur Warren. Baker entered a plea of not guilty.

Baker was involved in a street fight with Dr. A. S. Rumreich of Lisbon, Columbiana County Health Commissioner, who was cited on a similar charge. Dr. Rumreich's hearing was postponed Monday night by the mayor, contingent upon further evidence.

The continuance was asked by the doctor's defense counsel, who said Dr. Rumreich has been admitted to Youngstown South Side Hospital for an eye injury suffered in the fight.

Ben Barrett Honored At Booster Club Football Banquet

Alexander Gets K. of C. Award

250 Hear Talk By Ara Parseghian

By CARL NADRASY

A Salem High School football coach humbly bowed out of the local gridiron picture last night — and he left amid profuse tributes. Head Football Coach Ben Barrett, after 12 previous seasons of acknowledging his Salem gridders for their performances, honored his thirteenth and last team at the Boosters Club's annual football banquet in the Memorial Building.

Tributes to the Salem mentor were bestowed by all principals in the program — from main speaker Ara Parseghian, Miami of Ohio football coach, to this year's grid captain, Herb Haschen.

Making his resignation from football coaching official before some 250 persons at the dinner program, Barrett's departure from the ranks seemed to overshadow the remainder of the program.

Jack Alexander walked off with the biggest honor of the evening — the Knights of Columbus trophy, awarded each year to the Salem player with the highest scholastic standing and outstanding athletic ability. The award was presented on behalf of the K. of C. by Rev. Fr. John Cunningham, assistant pastor of St. Paul Church.

THIS YEAR MARKS the 11th straight season the trophy has been awarded to the outstanding scholar on the team. Besides their scholastic ratings, candidates for the award must have played football for Salem four years.

Last year's winner was Jim Beard. Previous winners were: 1945, William Ward; 1946, Ray Snyder; 1947, Dan Crawford; 1948, Ken Ziegler and Tom Miner; 1950, Jim Callahan; 1951, Jim Cusack; 1952, Wayne Ickes; and 1953, Gary Paxson.

In presenting this year's K. of C. award to Alexander, Fr. Cunningham quoted Coach Barrett in his praise of the athlete by saying that his main attribute during his four years was "loyalty."

"He was one of the most thoughtful of players in that he always gave forth what was asked of him. During the four years he never missed a practice or a coaching session," Fr. Cunningham concluded.

Athletic Director Fred Cope introduced this year's cheerleader advisor, Mrs. Bessie Lewis who introduced the 1955 Quaker cheerleaders, Donna Blender, Nettie Harris, Janet Patterson, John Frakk and Joan Weigand. A sixth member of the team, Joyce Bailey, was not present.

Cope then introduced the 1955 football team, Janet Patterson and her court, Jean Vorian, Nettie Harris, Jackie Julian, Mary Mercer, Joni Fester, and Donna Blender.

The athletic director also introduced Robert Conroy, varsity trainer for the past four years, and presented him with a gift.

COPE COMMENTED that with 68 players present at the banquet, it made the affair the largest of its kind ever held at S.H.S. He concluded by saying "... working with Ben Barrett has been an extreme pleasure."

Barrett then introduced the reserve team. In commenting on their play during the season, he said, "I never saw a team with more courage than these boys. With the odds against them, they were ready each Monday like a new season was beginning. They were great, the kind of boys I like to be associated with."

Barrett also introduced Sam Pridon, freshman coach, who presented his team for the season.

In his official speech of resignation, the dean of Columbiana County football coaches said, "I consider it an honor and a great privilege to have been here for the last 13 years."

"Some people wonder about their high school. I've been to other high schools and I think the reason I stayed here 13 years is because Salem High School was and is far and away the best I have ever been associated with or ever seen."

"I have had offers to go other places but had seen those other places and preferred to stay at Salem."

THE ADMINISTRATION here

Barrett is holding the jacket up for the crowd to see. At his left, holding a box, is football captain Herb Haschen, who presented the gift on behalf of the team. Toastmaster Dr. George Jones is seated at left and applauding at right is guest speaker Ara Parseghian, football coach at Miami, O. Lined up in the background are members of the football team.

has been wonderful, in addition to the kids and the townspeople. I have seen many students and players go on from here to college and graduate to take their places in the world."

Barrett then spoke of the splendid playing conditions Salem players he has coached have always had. A modern dressing room and best equipment possible were cited by the retiring mentor.

He said it was an extreme pleasure working with Fred Cope and his assistants, adding "We have always gotten along wonderfully for they always worked 100 per cent for the team."

The Salem mentor then went on to laud his coaching staff — Sam Pridon, John Cabas, Karl Zellers and Vince Crawford for their great support throughout the campaign.

Barrett also introduced the varsity letter winners in the freshmen, sophomore and junior classes, and presented the thirteen senior players a gold football on behalf of the Booster Club.

Captain Herb Haschen presented Barrett a gift on behalf of the team. Senior Frank Corso presented Athletic Director Fred Cope a gift from the senior members of the team in appreciation for his work during the past four years.

IN CLOSING, Barrett said, "the decision I have made was not a hasty one. For everyone, there must be an end, and I have decided this is it for me. The boys deserve the best. When a guy begins to slip I believe it is time to quit."

"I see great things for Salem football in the future," Barrett added.

Supt. E. S. Kerr expressed appreciation for the support the Booster Club has given the schools in Salem. He commended Barrett and said he was glad Barrett was not giving up his teaching profession.

Dr. George Jones, master of ceremonies, introduced the main

Undefeated Oklahoma, winning at the polls in the same whirlwind fashion that it won most of its games, today captured the 1955 national college football championship and the Father J. Hugh O'Donnell Trophy in the 20th annual Associated Press poll.

The bowl-bound Sooners amassed 3,581 points in the season's final AP poll of sports writers and broadcasters. It topped Michigan State by more than 300 points. Maryland, Oklahoma's opponent in the Orange Bowl Jan. 2, finished third.

Warriors Draft 'The Stilt' for '59

PHILADELPHIA (AP) — When "The Stilt" comes home, can paradise be far behind? That might be the question uppermost in the mind of Philadelphia Warriors owner Eddie Gottlieb—and the reason for an almost perpetual smile on his face.

Gottlieb confirmed Monday, he had drafted Wilt (The Stilt) Chamberlain for his 1959 Warriors even before the seven-foot basketball star left the quiet confines of Overbrook High School here for Kansas University.

The unprecedented drafting of a player four years before he is eligible for pro ranks was approved last spring when the National Basketball Assn. passed a new draft rule.

Gottlieb, sensing a surefire star for the pro ranks, exercised his territorial rights and promptly grabbed Chamberlain.

The Stilt performed in his first college game recently as a member of the Kansas freshmen team. Chamberlain poured in 42 points and grabbed 24 rebounds on what he called an off night while leading the frosh to a 81-71 victory over the Kansas varsity, one of the favorites for the big seven conference crown this year.

Kansas Coach Phog Allen terms Chamberlain the greatest player in the game today.

Red Sox Buy Franchise Of San Francisco

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — The Boston Red Sox have bought the San Francisco franchise for $150,000 in a deal calculated to strengthen the Pacific Coast League and are negotiating the sale of their Louisville farm in the American Assn.

Joe Cronin, Red Sox general manager, surprised the minor league convention Monday night by buying the Coast League outlet as Cleveland's Hank Greenberg sat back and waited for the club to fall into his lap.

Tangerine Bowl Picks Missouri Valley, Juniata

ORLANDO, Fla. (AP) — Two powerful small college football teams—Missouri Valley and Juniata—will play in the 10th annual Tangerine Bowl game Jan. 2.

Missouri Valley was selected Monday night. Juniata College, of Huntingdon, Va., was picked Friday.

U. of Michigan President Raps Bowl Emphasis

DETROIT (AP) — Decriing pre-season ratings of teams and players and emphasis on post-season bowl bids, the University of Michigan's president has called for a curb on what he terms "the accelerated madness of college football."

Dr. Harlan H. Hatcher told 700 at the annual U-M "football bust" Monday night:

"I sincerely hope a way is found to preserve the game in its proper college setting, so that we won't have to alter it — as I am sure we will have to do if our present course continues."

Hatcher said he read "with sinking heart" magazine reports which rated Michigan No. 1 in the nation before it had played its first game this year and other articles which forecast conference championships and bowl bids months ahead.

Michigan ended up with a 7-2 record. A 17-0 loss to Ohio State in the final game cost the Wolverines the Big Ten championship and a trip to the Rose Bowl.

Citing newspaper reports of last Saturday's games emphasizing bowl bids, Dr. Hatcher said:

"'Coveted Bids,' they are called. Here's another: 'Army knocks Navy out of Cotton Bowl.' And one says: 'Tennessee ruins Vanderbilt's bowl hopes.'"

"There was a time when football games were played to see who would win. Now everything points to the 'coveted bid' to a bowl. 'Unless something is done, this may lead us farther astray.'"

Monte Irvin Picked Up By Chicago Cubs

By JOE REICHLER

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — Monte

Irvin, whose big bat played a key role in the New York Giants' miracle finish in 1951, is coming back to the major leagues at the ripe old age of 37—this time with the Chicago Cubs.

The slugging outfielder, abandoned by the Giants last summer, was the only big name among the 10 minor leaguers selected by the majors for a total of $115,000 in Monday's annual draft session, which officially opened the winter baseball meetings.

Although an unusual number of big league managers were here, only one trade was consummated. The Chicago Cubs sent Hal Jeffcoat, a fair relief pitcher, to the Cincinnati Reds in an even-up exchange for Hobie Landrith, a second-string catcher.

The Cubs, in desperate need of a strong right-handed outfielder, plucked Irvin from Minneapolis, the Giants' farm club in the American Assn., for the $100,000 draft price, beating out at least two other clubs—Detroit and Cincinnati. If Irvin can come anywhere near the .352 batting average he posted with the Millers, he will prove a real bargain.

Browns Select 4 In Player Draft

PHILADELPHIA (AP) — Preston Carpenter, of Arkansas, first of the Cleveland Browns' four choices in the National Football League draft here yesterday, is considered one of the best halfbacks in Arkansas football history.

Even though he was hampered by illness and injuries, Carpenter this year carried the ball for Arkansas 57 times for 257 yards net in eight games and caught 11 passes for 145 yards.

He is an excellent blocker and strong defensively, especially against short passes. He also is an excellent place-kicker.

The Browns' other selections were another halfback, Bill Kinard, a defensive specialist from Mississippi; and two ends, Larry Ross from Denver University and Bill Quinlan, former Michigan State and Canadian pro player now on the Fort Carson team. Quinlan is not likely to be available until the 1957 season.

cars ARE MY Line

by Al Parker

Folks, today I'd like to talk with you about something vitally important to every individual in this great nation of ours. Due to the unprecedented number of people that are being slaughtered on our highways each day, President Eisenhower has named December 1 the day for a nation-wide effort to reduce traffic accidents. The challenge confronting Salem Ohio is to remain completely free of traffic accidents for a 24-hour period in daylight or darkness that day.

Thursday will be the second annual S-D Day, or Safe Driving Day. It's purpose is to demonstrate, again, that traffic accidents can be greatly reduced when motorists and pedestrians fulfill their moral and civic responsibility for safety.

There is probably no one in the United States who has not had a member of his or her family or a friend or neighbor, injured in a traffic accident.

Last year, this is what traffic accidents did in the United States:

Killed 36,000 people.
Injured somebody every 25 seconds. A total of 1,250,000 persons were disabled beyond the day of the accident.
Cost an estimated $4.4 billion in medical bills, property loss and other expense.

There were nearly 10 million traffic accidents in the United States in 1954. These accidents were the greatest single killer of farm people (excluding death from natural causes). They continued to be a wholesale killer of children in early school years, and of young people between the ages of 15 and 24. They killed twice as many industrial workers as were killed in occupational accidents not involving motor vehicles.

HERE ARE SOME SAFE DRIVING TIPS:

- Be sportsmanlike on every drive.
- Obey all traffic regulations.
- Keep speed reasonable. Start earlier and drive slower.
- Don't drive when you drink.
- Remember, danger increases with darkness: At sundown, reduce speed so you're within range of your headlights.
- Stay in line — don't weave.
- Don't pass unless there's plenty of room—and never on hills or curves.
- Allow sufficient stopping distance between you and the car ahead.
- Be extra alert at intersections.
- Always signal your intention to turn or stop.
- If the weather is bad, don't drive unless you must. If you drive, double your care.
- Check your brakes, lights, windshield wipers, tires and steering.

Do your part in this life-saving, accident-preventing effort ... You have a share in traffic safety. Make Courtesy your Code of the Road.

DeMarco Has Puncher's Chance Against Basilio

By HARRY GRAYSON

BOSTON —(NEA) — Carmen Basilio and Tony DeMarco take you back to the rapidly disappearing good old days of the beak busting business.

That's why they're going to do a lot of the latter at the Boston Garden, Nov. 30. The joint is sold out. This second scheduled 15-round event between Basilio, the idol of Canastota, N.Y., onion growers and DeMarco, the pride of the Hub's North End, will be televised nationally.

DeMarco must be given the chance of a puncher, but this odd handicapper has to pick Basilio to take him out again, along about the time he did last trip. That would be the 12th round and as recently as last June, Basilio, the nearest thing to Billy Petrolle since the Fargo Express roared along in the late 1920s appears too rugged and ringwise.

Ninety per cent of return matches are far from replicas of the first, but Basilio and DeMarco give you a guarantee. They know only one way — and it's strictly pier six.

Basilio, the welterweight champion, is the more skillful of the two rip-tearing sluggers in that he adjusts himself to styles. He doesn't hit as hard as did Petrolle, but his body-wrecking clouts inside took a lot out of DeMarco in their initial outing.

It could be that making 147 pounds is now quite a chore for Basilio, which would work to the advantage of DeMarco, a natural 145-pounder.

DeMarco can knock the other guy's block off with a left hook and has been coached no little since Basilio lifted the crown he wore for only 40 days. DeMarco might not "lose" Basilio as he did when he stunned the up-state New Yorker in the second round of their inaugural. Another crisp left hook hurt Basilio in the fourth round, but with the then challenger moving in, the result was clear after eight heats.

It is explained that the thick-shouldered DeMarco had a bad nose condition in their first scrap. Tony is said to have suffered hemorrhages at six o'clock the night of the fight which made breathing difficult. The damage required an operation. They contend that the mended breathing apparatus added an inch and a half to his chest expansion and stepped him up as a belter. The live audience for this miniature war will be a capacity 14,000 at a $25 top. That means a $200,000 gross. Basilio collects 40 per cent of the net, shares memorably in the $50,000 telecasting money. DeMarco gets 20 per cent. Put on a fight and they'll give it out, provided you don't give it away for free to the Living Room A.C.

No Executions In Ohio During '55

Next Electrocution Set Feb. 1 at Penitentiary

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP)—For the first time in 39 years, Ohio Penitentiary is expected to go without an execution in 1955.

Warden Ralph W. Alvis said today "death row" now has five inmates but the next scheduled execution date is Feb. 1, 1956. Three of the five have indefinite stays of execution, he said.

The penitentiary has had 295 electrocutions since 1897, when the first person died in the prison's electric chair, Alvis said. The only other years the "death house" was not used were 1902, 1903, 1906, 1915 and 1916.

Last execution at the prison was on Aug. 6, 1954 when Sam B. Nettles of Toledo died for the double slaying of Mr. and Mrs. William Pegler of Toledo in an attempted robbery of their home.

Samuel W. Tannhill, 26, of Fremont was sentenced to die Feb. 1 for the jack-handle slaying of Mrs. Shirley Bradford, 29, a waitress in a Fremont tavern which Tannhill held up last May 2.

Joseph Allen of Cleveland is slated to die Feb. 20 for the slaying of Barry Joiner and Willard Arnold in Cleveland, Dec. 22, 1951.

Under an indefinite stay of execution in "death row" are Alphonso Cosby, Springfield, Bernard Schreiber, Toledo, and Walter Wilson, Cleveland.

Cosby was given the death sentence for the slaying of a Springfield cab driver last April 2; Schreiber, 18, for the fatal stabbing of Mary J. Freiss, 17, of Toledo, on Aug. 12, 1954; and Wilson for the fatal shooting of Joseph Fena in a Cleveland restaurant last Jan. 19.

MASQUERADE — BUT NOT FOR FUN — A wave of molestings in Columbus, has driven a squad of husky policemen into skirts, head-scarves, and lipstick to lay traps for the culprits. Impersonators are shown with lone feminine aide, Policewoman Madeline Baker, far right. Note revolver butts protruding from every waistband.

Inside Labor

By Victor Riesel

The general staff of many a 4 million department store and retail clerks.

This drive may get priority from the new AFL-CIO even over a projected campaign in the chemical and atomic and hydrogen fields. Why? Because there are only 506,500 union members in a retail field of more than 4 million. This is a vast and expanding industry.

Victor Riesel

The target areas have been selected with military precision. Every section of the country, every worker will feel the impact of the new era of organization which will follow the AFL-CIO merger.

I could tell you the details of a drive by AFL vaudevillians, headed by Joe E. Lewis and Jackie Bright, to unionize county fairs, carnivals, circuses and their winter grounds. With Gypsy Rose Lee as one of the organizers, this would be a more colorful story than other drives — but the less spectacular ones will shake the nation.

There is, for example, a blueprint for a drive on the nation's ing the number of stores in a city and the number of clerks employed. Not in just a few communities — but in all cities in a massive square area reaching from New York to Chicago down to St. Louis and over to Atlanta.

Being bright strategists, these men have also analyzed labor's strength in these cities so the powerful unions in the areas can be approached and asked for help. Political influence, money and manpower.

ALL THIS IS NOW down on paper — targets to be taken, potential membership and the money required to re-awaken "the spirit of 1937 organizing days."

Within a few weeks these plans will be put before the eight-man high command of the AFL-CIO — consisting of George Meany, Bill Schnitzler, three men from the old AFL and three from the old CIO. The signal to move up will come from this high command — and presumably the money, too.

Not all of the AFL-CIO's 140 international unions have their battle plans on paper — but a good many are as ready as this retail union.

Watch especially the AFL's State, County and Municipal Employees. They're prepared. They envision a mass drive on the nation's government and public workers. Reports from their headquarters reveal that the "ground work" has been set for campaigns in upstate New York, Michigan, Texas, Oklahoma and Florida among others.

These are but two unions, with a potential of close to 1 million. There are other labor headquarters a potential of close to 10 million. The labor movement has close to 16 million members.

It certainly will try for 32 million

HOW WILL THIS WORK? Just keep your eyes on Detroit where special activity is centered. There's a labor town. Its powerful unions will be used as a base for signing up city workers and those employed by public institutions.

The union's slogan will be "make workers out of public employees." In other words, give them the rights and privileges — not of civil servants — but of factory workers as in Ford and GM. In this field, there are 5 million, perhaps more, who can be unionized.

These are but two unions, with a potential of close to 1 million. There are other labor headquarters a potential of close to 10 million. The labor movement has close to 16 million members.

It certainly will try for 32 million

Jurors Can't Take Notes In Reds' Trial

CLEVELAND (AP)—Jurors, snowed under by almost half a million words of testimony at the trial of 11 alleged Communist leaders, asked yesterday for court permission to take notes.

But U. S. District Judge Charles J. McNamee told them: "The courts have held almost uniformly that jurors should not be permitted to take notes during the trial."

However the judge said he would grant a request to provide the jury with a typewritten list of the defendants' names. In their fifth week of trial, the defendants are charged with conspiring to teach and advocate the forcible overthrow of the government.

The government's fifth FBI witness, David Whitney Garfield Jr., 32, of Canfield, Ohio, said in cross examination that security measures taken by the Communist party to conceal membership in 1947 and 1948 were proved by fear of "violent" action.

A former Red leader in Youngstown and Canton, Garfield admitted under questioning that the manner Communists might use to change the government was "just speculation." But he added: "We did state certain general ideas—that the capitalist state would have to be done away with."

Burley Sales Begin At Ripley, Ohio

RIPLEY, Ohio (AP)—The familiar chant of the tobacco auctioneer will be heard today as the annual burley sales get underway.

About 2 1/4 million pounds of tobacco worth a million dollars were stacked in the city's four warehouses. The crop is light in color with a large percentage of popular smoking leaf.

Last season Ohio and Kentucky growers selling at Ripley were paid $6,355,053 for 12,708,746 pounds, an average of $50.01 for 100 pounds. Sales this year are expected hit a medium of $50 a hundredweight.

The government support price is $46.20, a cut of 20 cents from last year's guarantee.

Higginsport, about 10 miles west of Ripley on the Ohio River, is considered the birthplace of white burley, now extensively cultivated in an eight state area. Ripley is the only burley sales outlet in Ohio.

Last year it ranked among the first 20 of the 60 markets in the burley belt in sales, average and money paid.

The auctions continue until Dec. 21 and then resume Jan. 3.

Drives 106 mph To Nab Armless Motorist

COLORADO SPRINGS, Colo. (AP)—A peace officer said Monday night he was forced to drive 106 mph to arrest an armless motorist.

Undersheriff Clinton E. Haugh identified the motorist as Edward Ernest Higgins, 29, of Pueblo. Haugh said Higgins told him he was born without arms and drove with his feet. He charged Higgins with speeding and reckless driving.

The undersheriff said he could find no special equipment on the car and it appeared Higgins drove with one foot on the steering wheel and used the other for the brake and accelerator pedals.

Denies M'Carthy Man To Be Postmaster

WASHINGTON (AP)—A spokesman for the Post Office Department says that, contrary to an announcement by the office of Sen. McCarthy (R-Wis.), Thomas Miller "has not been appointed" acting postmaster for Appleton, Wis.

Appleton is McCarthy's home town. He had recommended the appointment of Miller, 57, to succeed Stephen Balliet, who reaches the mandatory retirement age of 70 Wednesday. McCarthy's office said Wednesday Miller had been appointed.

The department spokesman, who declined use of his name, refused to indicate whether Miller would or would not get the post later.

"The whole matter of an appointment is under review by the department," the spokesman said. McCarthy himself was not available for comment.

Miller, a former tavern keeper, was convicted in 1931 of violating federal prohibition laws and in 1946 and 1950 of violating Wisconsin gambling laws.

Woman, 19, Slain By Unidentified Man

HAMILTON, Ohio (AP)—Mrs. Mary Ellen Barger, 19, mother of a 1-year-old girl, walked out of her sister's house last night and was shot to death by an unidentified man.

One witness, not identified by police, said a car with two men drove up to the house. The rider got out of the automobile, put his arm around Mrs. Barger and then a single shot was fired.

Police questioned Mrs. Barger's estranged husband, Milford Barger, employed by a carpenter contractor. Chief John Bippus said Barger's story that he was at home at the time of the shooting was backed by his stepfather. Barger was caring for the couple's daughter pending a divorce suit.

"It's definitely murder," Bippus said, "but we haven't pinned it on anyone yet."
